Decisions.
With each new choice we change a little.
If we are lucky we grow.
Difficult as our choices may be,
refusing to make them solves nothing;
only postpones the inevitable.
There is no one who can make them for us;
only we ourselves.
Starting here. Starting now.

Starting here, Starting now ...

At Central, students have acquired a taste for the good life to round off their education. Most students were given a chance to become a part of Central's way of life, float the river, participating in intramurals, and enjoying what college life has to offer ...

Comedian George Carlin opened the year with his unique style of risqué humor. From there on, Central students found their own kind of humor that comes with college life.

Central is known for its academic achievements and knowledge of a good time and where to find it. Using Central's scenic landscape for a favorite individual place to study, students can be caught hitting the books. Starting here at Central what will be the beginning of a new life. Starting now for the future.

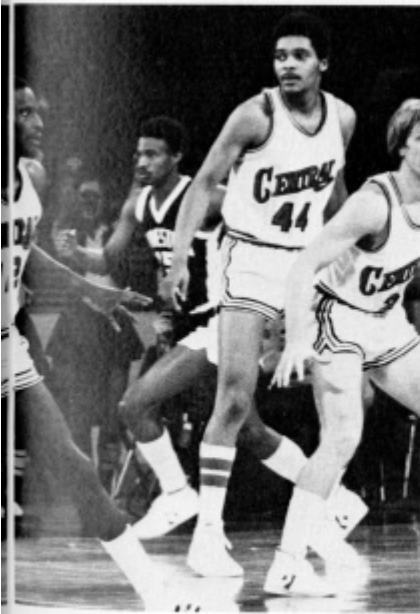

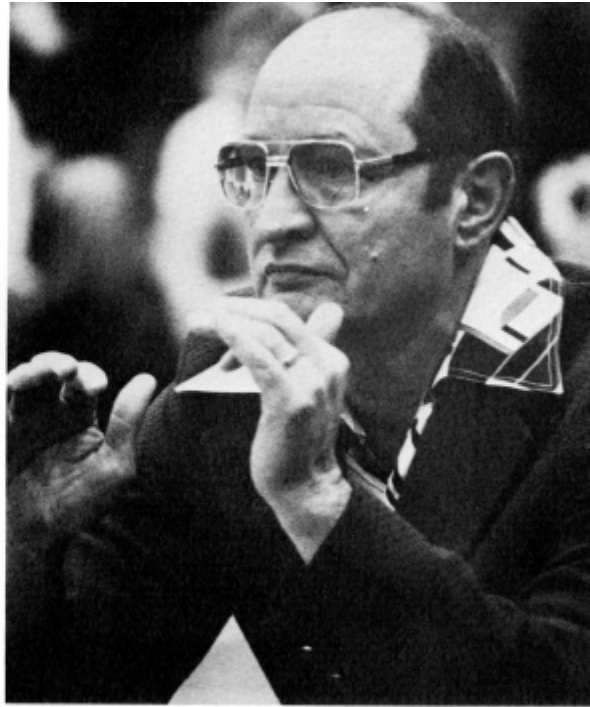

Sports carries a lot of weight at Central as the fans support some fine teams. Womens sports take a back seat to nobody as they take their share of trophies. Along with the sports come Central's fans . . .

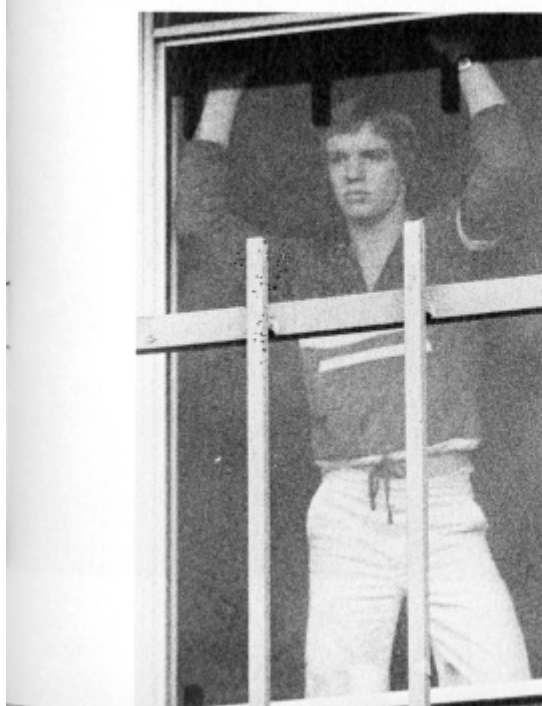

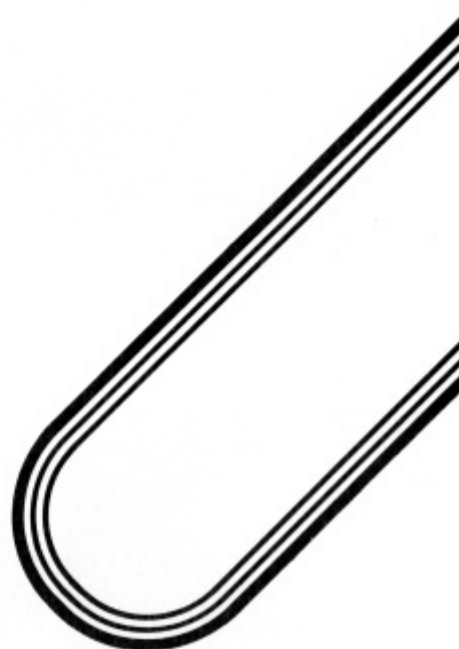

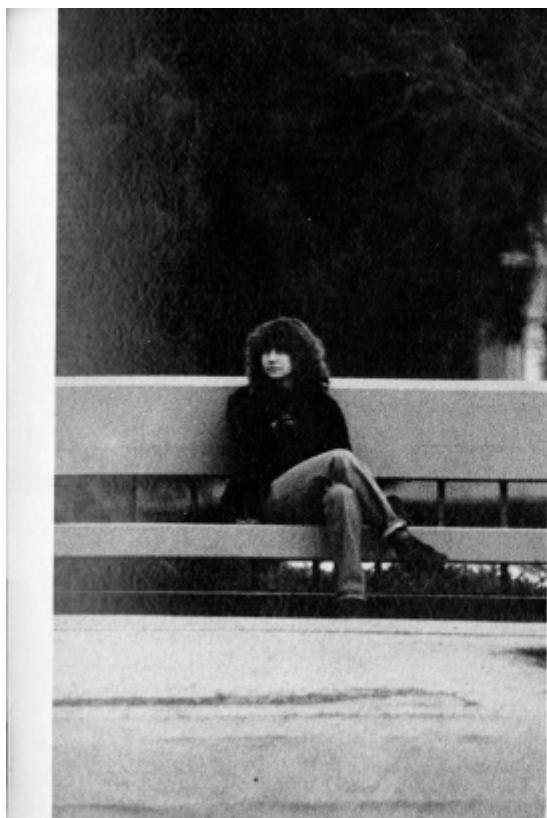

Central established a record last year when it appeared in the NAIA National Basketball Tournament for the 14th time. The Wildcats and Nebraska's Peru State had been tied for the most appearances with 13 each.

Coach Dean Nicholson has been involved in all 14 trips to nationals, 13 times as coach and once as a player. Central's best finish at nationals was second in 1970.

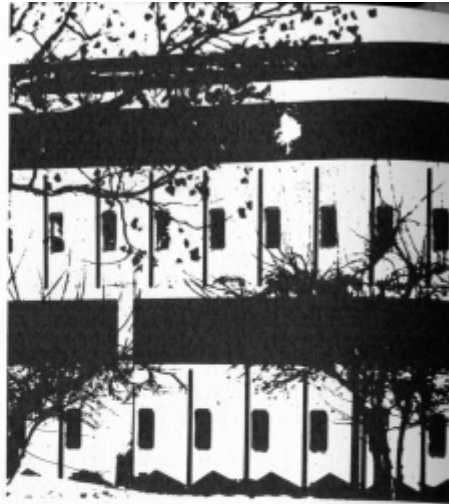

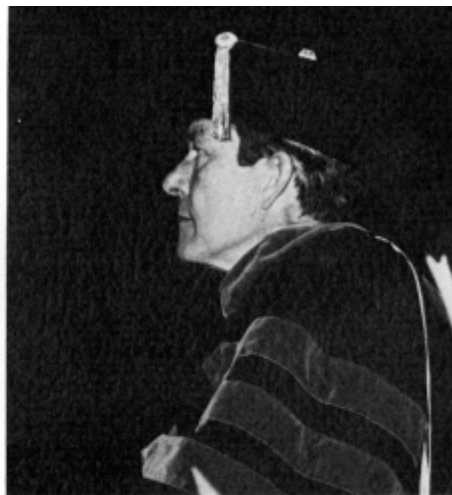

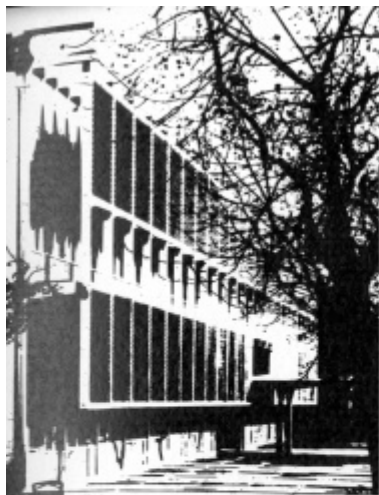

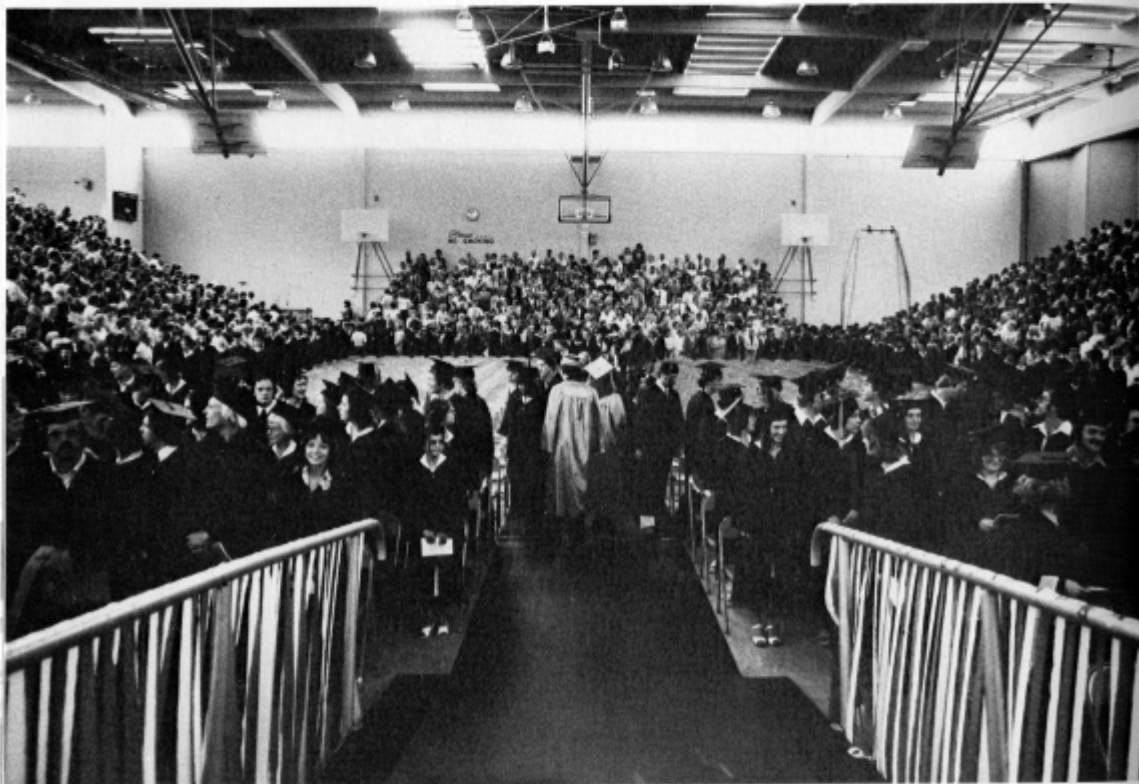

On April 5, 1978 the Board of Trustees announced the appointment of Dr. Donald L. Garrity as our ninth president in Central's 87-year history. Thus a lengthy search for a successor to Dr. James E. Brooks ended.

CWU began another era this year when the former academic provost at San Francisco State took the presidency fall quarter.

In his words: "I am pleased and proud to stand before you as your new president. I welcome the opportunity to join with you in building upon the history of accomplishment of this university. As growth and development have occurred in the past, I look upon the future with great optimism. Central Washington University is now a good university. It can be a fine university. It is my hope that we will join together to realize that goal — I am confident that we can . . . I ask that we join together in making it so.

Starting here. Starting now.

At last, another cycle is completed and Central loses students to the "real world." If they are lucky they grow. Using their new-found talents they emerge into a world of mixed-up affairs in which they must restore continuity. STARTING HERE. STARTING NOW.
